MARINES BACK WHITE AWARD

Battalion of U. S. Marines Ordered to See That Costa Rica Takes Possession of Disputed Territory Without Trouble From Excitable Panamanians.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The United States is sitting tight today watching a boiling pot in Latin America. This government, having informed Panama that the United States does not "feel compelled to suggest" that Costa Rica delay longer in taking over the disputed territory on the Panama-Costa Rica boundary which was awarded to Costa Rica by the White award and having ordered a battalion of marines to Panama, is awaiting further developments.

Officials of the state and navy departments are keeping silence as to the reason for the dispatch of the marines to Panama, but it is generally believed here that these "soldiers of the sea" will receive orders to supervise the taking over of the disputed territory if trouble threatens.

Narciso Garay, foreign minister of Panama, who has been here as head of a mission seeking to have the United States change its attitude on the boundary dispute, stated that the republic of Panama would not use force in an effort to thwart the execution of the White award and declared the need of this government using force to put the award into effect.

The population of Panama has heretofore shown itself to be of an extremely excitable nature, and it is believed that is one of the reasons for the orders sending the marines southward.

In the event that the people of Panama get out of the control of the government, the marines will be called upon to maintain order in the disputed territory while Costa Rica is executing the White award.

Under terms of the international law, marines may be landed in a foreign country to protect American rights, without a declaration of war. It is this law which has probably prompted the sending of marines to Panama, for there are now sufficient army forces in Panama to resist any efforts on the part of any Central American army.

The region about Coto, where Costa Rica will take over the jurisdiction of territory, which has heretofore been claimed by Panama, is sparsely populated, and officials here are hopeful that this fact will operate against any clashes between Panamanians and Costa Ricans. Any Panamanian resistance would have to be organized in the city of David, or Panama City, many miles from Coto.

Costa Rica has advised the United States that it is ready to exercise its jurisdiction over the disputed land, and in view of the action of this government it is expected that the White award will be made immediately effective thus ending a controversy of some years' standing.

John Wolf, whose place of business on Abel street was raided by the police last week, at which time about eight gallons of what was said to be intoxicating liquors was seized, was placed under arrest this morning by Sergeant Hanley on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, charging Wolf with a violation of the law in possessing intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes.

Mr. Wolf was arraigned before Judge Schirck in police court later in the morning and entered a plea of not guilty. He said he desired to retain the law firm of Van Etten & Cook to defend him, and the hearing was adjourned to Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and bail fixed at $500, which was furnished.

At the time the police raided Wolf's place he was not placed under arrest as it was desired first to have an analysis of the liquor made. This was done and his arrest followed.

RUSSIA TO GET FOOD IN WEEK

Bread Made of Acorns Now Being Eaten in Volok Region—General Thompson Reports Cholera Situation Better.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 22.—Food for the starving Russians will begin pouring into Riga this week and the first supplies will cross the Russian border in about seven days, said a dispatch from Riga today. It is understood that considerable shipping that was made idle by the commercial depression will be utilized for the transportation of food, medicines and clothing.

"The people of the Volok region of Russia are reduced to bread made of ground up acorns although they had white bread as late as April," said a Moscow dispatch to the Daily Herald. "The inhabitants of the middle Volga are digging up seed potatoes, which had not yet sprouted, to stave off hunger. In less than a month 90,000 peasants have left the Volga region by rail and steamer for Siberia. Many others who had funds to purchase transportation are walking. Petrograd expects 15,000 refugees before the situation is relieved."

Brigadier General Thompson, who has just returned from Moscow, told the Daily Herald that Russia is making big sacrifices of her economic theories in order to fight famine.

"The cholera situation seems well in hand now," Brigadier General Thompson said.

BOND CORPORATION BEING LIQUIDATED

New York, Aug. 22.—Plans for liquidating the affairs of the National Thrift Bond Corporation of New York, which was taken over by the New York State Banking Department at the close of the corporation's July business, are today in process of formation, according to state banking officials.

The corporation, which engaged in a general investment business had offices throughout the east, with many branches in New York state and Connecticut.

Delay in settling the affairs of the company is said to have been caused by inability to locate all the purchases of bonds and coupons. Many so-called coupons, it seems, were not properly recorded, and delay caused by tracing the purchasers is said to be the biggest obstacle in the way of quickly liquidating the corporation's affairs.

The clock struck nine in police headquarters Saturday evening as a stranger hove into view and berthed himself alongside the desk.

"Give me the best room you got," said he of the man on the desk, and drawing a roll of bills from his pocket he peeled off a five spot and threw it down on the desk. "If you got a room with a bath why give me that; the best is none too good for me."

The man on the desk saw at a glance that the stranger was carrying a heavy cargo of wet goods, and asked him how much money he had. "Oh, a couple of hundred," replied the stranger easily.

"Well you better leave it at the desk, and I'll give you a receipt for it," suggested the man on the desk. "That's a good idea," enthused the stranger as he swayed slightly from side to side and he handed over his roll.

It contained just $190, which the man at the desk took and gave the stranger a receipt and led him across the hall to the lockup and showed him where he could spend the night.

About half an hour later the stranger hove into view again. "I guess you had better give me my roll I am going out to see the sights," said he.

"I guess not," replied the man on the desk as he gently but firmly escorted the stranger back to the lockup and placed him in Cell No. 1.

Sunday morning the stranger was sober and was allowed to go after he had received his $190 intact.

"Much obliged," said he as he left for his home.

IS BRIDE AT 86; BRIDEGROOM 78

The Poughkeepsie Eagle-News says:

"When one is old and lonely, love counts most."

Miss Ella Quick, aged 86, and John Kniffin, 78, both of Ulster county, were married Friday by Justice McKenzie, at Port Ewen, and are now spending a few days in Poughkeepsie, after which they will go to Pleasant Valley to spend the remainder of their honeymoon.

The bride, in an interview with the Eagle-News Friday night said: "Love at 86 is not the love of 20, yet it is none the less real. Youth is full of interests which make life and happiness possible without love, and middle life has its ambitions, but when one is old and lonely, love counts most."

Mrs. Kniffin owns a large farm, and for the past three years Mr. Kniffin has been in her employ. The bridegroom has been married before.

The bride admitted that her marriage at the advanced age of 86 might cause some surprise among her friends and distant relatives. "But you know," she pointed out, "I hold that it is never too late in life to marry the right man. And anyhow women are made that way—whether they are 20 or 80 when they find the man they want to marry they marry and let their friends say what they please. Sure it is never too late to marry, any more than it is never too late to be happy."

RUSSIA TO GET FOOD IN WEEK

Bread Made of Acorns Now Being Eaten in Volok Region—General Thompson Reports Cholera Situation Better.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Aug. 22.—Food for the starving Russians will begin pouring into Riga this week and the first supplies will cross the Russian border in about seven days, said a dispatch from Riga today. It is understood that considerable shipping that was made idle by the commercial depression will be utilized for the transportation of food, medicines and clothing.

"The people of the Volok region of Russia are reduced to bread made of ground up acorns although they had white bread as late as April," said a Moscow dispatch to the Daily Herald. "The inhabitants of the middle Volga are digging up seed potatoes, which had not yet sprouted, to stave off hunger. In less than a month 90,000 peasants have left the Volga region by rail and steamer for Siberia. Many others who had no funds to purchase transportation are walking. The situation is relieved."

Brigadier General Thompson, who has just returned from Moscow, told the Daily Herald that Russia is making big sacrifices of her economic theories in order to fight famine.

"The cholera situation seems well in hand now," Brigadier General Thompson said.

BOND CORPORATION BEING LIQUIDATED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Aug. 22.—Plans for liquidating the affairs of the National Thrift Bond Corporation of New York, which was taken over by the New York State Banking Department at the close of the corporation's July business, are today in process of formation, according to state banking officials.

The corporation, which engaged in a general investment business, had offices throughout the east, with many big branches in New York state and Connecticut.

Delay in settling the affairs of the company is said to have been caused by inability to locate all the purchases of bonds and coupons. Many so-called coupons, it seems, were not properly recorded, and delay caused by tracing the purchases is said to be the biggest obstacle in the way of quickly liquidating the corporation's affairs.

It was agreed by all that the never ending flow of songs, dances and recitations kept the audience in danger of bursting from laughter. The fair sex were there—Miss Fede Freeman, Miss Anna Kessler, Miss Affron and Miss Gene Feinman. Miss Freeman and Miss Affron rendered several vocal and piano selections and were heartily applauded. Versatile Miss Kessler told stories and was in particular which scored a hit with the boys. "The Package." How the party almost came to a sudden end and near riot when Mr. Macrus, a 26th division veteran, asked, "If a train is going 100 miles an hour, how old is the conductor?" Then "Paddy Brennan" told McGovern that he was a dumb as thought Rex Beach was a summer resort and Sir Sir was a summer resort and Sir Sir was a summer resort and Sir Sir was a summer resort.

The boys enjoyed it immensely and Mr. King again took up his entertaining while the fair sex were being entertained and some a duel with Miss Affron. Then some more songs. They almost forgot the time and it was necessary for Mr. Macrus to remind them an extra half hour. Mrs. Kessler rendered a capable hostess. The party ended at 11:30 and Mr. Nathan again proved himself a worthy host.

POLICE SAVED HIS BANK ROLL

The clock struck nine in police headquarters Saturday evening as a stranger hove into view and berthed himself alongside the desk.

"Give me the best room you got," said he of the man on the desk, and drawing a roll of bills from his pocket he peeled off a five spot and threw it down on the desk.

"If you got a room with a bath why give me that; the best is none too good for me."

The man on the desk saw at a glance that the stranger was carrying a heavy cargo of wet goods, and asked him how much money he had.

"Oh, a couple of hundred," replied the stranger easily.

"Well you better leave it at the desk, and I'll give you a receipt for it," suggested the man on the desk. "That's a good idea," enthused the stranger as he handed over his roll.

It contained just $190, which the man at the desk took and gave the stranger a receipt and led him across the hall to the lockup and showed him where he could spend the night.

About half an hour later the stranger hove into view again.

"I guess you had better give me my roll I am going out to see the sights," said he.

"I guess not," replied the man on the desk as he gently but firmly escorted the stranger back to the lockup and placed him in Cell No. 1.

Sunday morning the stranger was sober and was allowed to go after he had received his $190 intact.

"Much obliged," said he as he left for his home.

IS BRIDE AT 86; BRIDEGROOM 78

The Poughkeepsie Eagle-News says: "When one is old and lonely, love counts most."

The bride, in an interview with The Eagle-News Friday night said: "Love at 86 is not the love of 20, yet it is none the less real. Youth is full of interests which make life and happiness possible without love, and middle life has its ambitions, but when one is old and lonely, love counts most."

Mrs. Kniffin owns a large farm, and for the past three years Mr. Kniffin has been in her employ. The bridegroom has been married before. The bride admitted that her marriage was somewhat of a surprise to her friends and distant relatives. "But you know," she confessed, "I hold that it is never too late in life to marry the right man. And anyhow women are made that way—whether they are 20 or 80 when they find the man they want to marry they marry and let their friends say what they please. Sure it is never too late to marry, any more than it is never too late to be happy."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE BYRD BIRD.

"A little girl named Katharine Byrd," said Daddy, "grew up into a grown-up person, as little girls are very apt to do."

"But when she grew up she never forgot she had been young. Some people do that. And oh, what lots and lots of fun they miss."

"For," Daddy continued, "I feel like singing a song like this at times:

"Boys and girls, you're often scolded. Boys and girls, you're often bad. But really, boys and girls, you do a lot to make us glad."

"Hurrah!" shouted Nancy.

"Cheers for Daddy," said Nick.

"Thank you," said Nick, "but there are people who seem to forget what fun it is to be young, and because they've forgotten all about it they hate any kind of games or laughter or what they call 'noise'."

Katharine Byrd grew up into a big lady, but she never forgot what it was to be young.

"Are you running young and she Races?" would smile when she saw children playing, and if they bumped into her by mistake she would say:

"Dear me, are you running races, or are you thinking I'm the goal?"

"Often she would take children out for walks, and it would have been hard for any one to decide whether the children or Katharine Byrd had the better time."

They always loved to go anywhere with her. What fun was that? How they loved to talk to her.

"Boys and girls—all loved her! She was always such fun, so ready to enter into anything like a picnic or a walk or a story-telling time."

"And to take hold of Katharine Byrd's hand and walk with her was just the beginning of something mighty nice—everyone knew that."

"She had many, many friends, and how they loved her!"

"She lived alone in a city apartment, but she often used to go out of the apartment, as I've told you, for walks and picnics into the country."

"And often, too, she would walk into the city park and join in with a group of children in feeding peanuts to the ever-hungry squirrels."

"Next to children Katharine Byrd loved birds. Now her name was spelled differently from the way that a bird's name is spelled who flies in the air."

"But there seemed to have been a wonderful understanding between Katharine Byrd and real birds."

"She had had a canary for years and years who sang very, very old, so old that after a time his little birds days were over with."

"Katharine Byrd missed her little bird so much. She missed his bright, good morning and she thought the apartment seemed very quiet without her bird."

"To be sure there was a great deal of noise all about. Wagons, and automobiles, and street cars, and trucks, and street cars passed by on the street, children played and shouted, but in the apartment Katharine Byrd missed her little bird very sadly."

One day as Katharine Byrd was sitting in a big rocking chair waiting for some children who were coming to have afternoon tea with her she heard some one or something singing.

"It sounded very near and she listened very intently."

She looked about her, and there, perched on top of a picture frame was a little canary.

"I'm lost; won't you take me in?" the bird seemed to be saying. "I found your window open and you looked like a wonderful companion for a little bird. See, I will sing for you! May I not be your little companion?"

"And from that day to this," said Daddy, "the little canary bird and Katharine Byrd have kept each other company, and the little canary bird sings songs for all of Katharine Byrd's children friends."

Can lids are often difficult to remove. Here is a plan by means of which they can be loosened easily. Tie a piece of stout twine loosely just below the cover, then thrust under the twine a pencil and start to twist this. When the twine is tight, the cover of the can comes away readily.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

DAVY CROCKETT, THE HERO OF THE ALAMO

"Be sure you're right, then go ahead," was Davy Crockett's motto. He fought for the right, then went ahead to a glorious death in the Alamo. Crockett was born in Tennessee in 1780. He came of fighting stock for his father, a tavern keeper, had been a soldier in the Revolution. Young Crockett's early years were spent in roaming the Tennessee woods, hunting. He became a renowned bear hunter, a fame which he shared with his favorite rifle, "Old Betsy."

When the Creek Indians went on the war path in 1813 Crockett tossed "Old Betsy" on his shoulder and marched away to fight the Indians. He served as a scout under Gen. Andrew Jackson and was in the great Battle of Tohopeka when "Old Hickory" defeated Weatherford's warriors.

After the Creek war was over Davy returned to Tennessee and entered politics. From magistrate he rose to state legislator and next the renowned bear hunter and scout was sent to congress where he served two terms. In February, 1836, Davy with 12 of his Tennessee friends arrived at the Mission del Alamo where Col. William Travis with a little army of less than 200 men was defying the Mexican dictator, Santa Anna.

Santa Anna had a force of 5,000 men, and although the Texans had a chance to escape before this overwhelming army cut off their retreat, they refused to do so. The Mexican general surrounded the rude little adobe fort. His demand for its surrender was met with scorn. Then he raised the red flag which meant, "No quarter," and attacked.

The long rifles of the Texans mowed down the Mexican soldiers driven to the attack. On March 6 Santa Anna prepared for a grand assault. Twenty-five hundred picked men were detailed to be hurled against the fort. The first assault was beaten back with heavy loss. A second failed, but in the third desperate attempt the Mexicans broke into the fort.

After that the fighting was hand to hand. Travis went down and Crockett took command. Outnumbered a hundred to one, Crockett with a few comrades stood with their backs to the wall of the church. One by one his men went down. At last only Davy was left. "Old Betsy" fired by the shot. Then Crockett seized her by the barrel and swung her about his head. There was a short struggle. "Old Betsy" was knocked from his hand. Bayonet thrust and sword cut were rained upon him. A mass of Mexicans struck him. He went down fighting to the last. The Alamo was history.

Vote Against Bobbing.

"Well," announced the fair young thing at the dinner table. "I'm not going to get my hair bobbed after all."

"Praise be," said her father. "But why?"

"You see, it's like this," she dimpled in reply. "I didn't know whether the boys would be sure to like it, so I sent around a questionnaire. They all answered, and the result was that six of them said not to bob it, while only two were in favor, so I can't do it, really."

Probably Enough.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(By 1921 Western Newspaper Union)

Our day is that of short cuts, labor saving devices and greater efficiency in all forms of labor. In steam and electricity man has come into possession of well-nigh unlimited possibilities.

GOOD DISHES WORTH TRYING.

When ideas seem scarce and one does not know what to serve, try some of these:

Corn, California Style.

Mix a can of corn with chopped green pepper and one-half cupful of thick white sauce, well seasoned with salt. Turn into a buttered casserole and cover with a slice of bacon. Bake in the oven until the bacon is cooked.

Cabbage With Veal Balls.—Cut the center from a firm head of cabbage and boil the shell in a cloth to keep it from breaking; drain when tender and season well with salt and pepper. To the cabbage taken from the center, chop and add half as much minced veal, one chopped onion, one cupful of cooked rice and one-half cupful of butter, mix and form into balls, the size of a walnut, dip in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat until brown. Serve the balls in the cabbage shell both steaming hot.

Stuffed Rabbit.—Mix together a cupful of bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of poultry dressing or any desired herbs, four tablespoonfuls of chopped suet, one teaspoonful of grated lemon rind, one egg and salt and pepper to taste. Add milk if more moisture is needed. Fill the well cleaned rabbit with this mixture and sew up carefully. Simmer for an hour or longer, according to the age of the rabbit. Serve with parsley and butter and serve buttered onions as a vegetable.

Preserved Berries.—Currants, raspberries or any fruit which can be well washed and mixed with an equal quantity of sugar, allowed to stand overnight in a cool place, or long enough to have the sugar thoroughly dissolved and mixed through the fruit, may be canned in cold sterile jars and sealed, keeping perfectly if kept in a cold cellar or in the bottom of the ice chest until cold weather comes on. Keep the jars from the light.

Take a pint of whipped cream, add a cupful and a half of cream cheese, a cupful of walnut meats, and the same of dates. Serve in sherbet cups garnished with a cherry.

Mother Saved Her Baby From Skin Suffering by use of Sykes Comfort Powder

Ashaway, R. There is nothing like it to heal the skin."—Mrs. Charles A. Brown, Ashaway, R. L.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

LINGERIE DRESS CRAZE IN PARIS

Hand-Made Frocks Are Featured by Majority of the Leading Dressmakers.

WAXED THINGS ARE POPULAR

Summer Fabrics, Mousselines, Chiffons, Laces and Satins Are Cired—
Many Charming Picture
Dresses Are Shown.

The handsome lingerie dress is a veritable craze in Paris this summer. Every great dressmaker, writes a fashion correspondent, is featuring these types and quantities of them have been exported to America.

It is interesting to note that these dresses in lingerie are not actually made by the dressmaker but are bought outside from the little workers in Paris who create so many beautiful things for which well-known people often get credit.

Hand-drawn work is even more in evidence than embroidery and one wonders how the worker can have the patience to pull so many threads and to put in so many intricate stitches. This work is done on crepe de chine, crepe georgette and on cotton and linen. The smartly dressed woman is ordering from six to a dozen dresses of this character for her summer wardrobe.

In cotton one finds voile, batiste and organdie made up in this style. The hand-drawn organdies are really exquisite and both the voiles and mousselines are extremely practical. Linens in both handkerchief and dress weights are being used in the same way. It is amazing the number of dresses of this character being shown and the big orders taken by manufacturers as well as private individuals.

Many organdies are done with very beautiful open patterns embroidered in the style known as broderie Anglaise. Other lovely models are applied in color such as deep navy blue, jade green or coral pink on white. This applique always is outlined with an openwork known as point Turc. As a further embellishment organdie ruffles and flutings on both mousseline and voile are seen.

Under the influence of the craze for cired (or waxed) things even the sheer summer fabrics have not escaped. Mousselines, chiffons and laces all are waxed. In fact, every sort of material is being cired. All the new laces are of jet trimming the shoulder cape yoke.

Still another fancy of the summer season is the black taffeta dress with wrap to match. Sometimes the somber look of the black taffeta is relieved by a brilliant lining of crepe de chine, green being the favorite illuminating shade.

The Straight-Line Frocks.
Sheer summer frocks might be said to be of two general types—the straight-line dress of clinging material with nothing to distinguish it in the way of cut, but a great deal in the way of simple hand trimming, or they may be what are termed picture dresses. The latter are more unusual than the former and not nearly so wearable.

Paris dressmakers always show many charming picture dresses following the styles of various periods, so well carried out that they are a delight to behold. Not every woman, however, can afford to indulge in such clothes, as they must fit into a particular setting and almost be worn by a distinct type of woman.

Take, for instance, the Spanish style, so beautiful in color and line that one is tempted to buy without due consideration for the type of woman for which they were originally intended. What could be more unfitting than a demure golden-haired young woman in a costume intended for a haughty black-haired beauty? Unfortunately, not every woman can afford to go to a high-priced dressmaker who will study her type and change original models until they are suited to her. So that a dress, to be a good seller—and this is what every successful merchant is looking for—must have the qualities that make it becoming to a great many women. We must have, in successful dressmaking, a fair amount of art harnessed to a great deal of commercialism.

Hand-Made Paris Models.

Many dresses make no attempt at the extreme or unusual, but are of the sort becoming to all women, and may be worn at any hour of a summer day. Typical French dresses might be developed in any one of the materials mentioned in this article. Organdie, crepe de chine and voile are suggested as being the best suited. Openwork may be different from the regulation hemstitching; being in cutwork design. If the dress is made of voile, however, hemstitching may be substituted for trimming if desired. It also would be charming in white crepe de chine with hemstitching. If, however, it is to be a dress made at home, and you do not wish to spend so much time in handwork, very pretty openwork trimming may be bought by the yard and inserted to give much the same effect, although, of course, the handwork is more beautiful.

Old-fashioned fluting is much resorted to by the French this summer as a trimming for the lingerie type of dress. Narrow fluted ruffles are used in quantities and frequently are attached to the dress by means of corded bands. Sometimes a double fluting on the order of box plaiting is used. The latter may be of a different material from the dress itself. For instance, a voile or crepe de chine frock may have platings of organdie.

Quite a radical departure from the long-waisted effects is seen in a dress the waist of which gives an impression of both the bolero jacket and the fichu collar. The model is in mousseline with hand-run tucks, trimmings of lace insertion and lace-edged flutings.

Variations of this model are shown by several American houses.

POULTRY FLOCKS

FEEDS FOR PRODUCING EGGS

Poultryman Should Have Full Knowledge of Proper Feed and How to Prepare It.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Everyone in the poultry business hopes to have eggs throughout the year, but of course this is scarcely possible. If the business is gone into on a commercial scale the largest profit should be obtained during the winter. If just two eggs a week extra can be obtained from every hen a good profit will be made, while if one egg a week extra can be recorded in the winter, this one egg will pay for all the feed the hen eats, according to the experience of the poultry specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture. To obtain this greater production not only should the fowls be young and of a good laying breed, but the feeder should have a full knowledge of the proper feed and how to prepare it. And this can be achieved only by study and care.

Nutrition in the feed of laying hens serves a twofold purpose: to repair waste and supply heat to the body and provide the egg-making materials. As only the surplus over what is needed for the body is available for egg production, the proper feeds should be given in sufficient quantities to induce this production.

In feeding poultry a valuable lesson may be learned from nature. In the spring the production of eggs is an easy matter. Fowls at liberty to roam find an abundance of green and animal feed on their range, which, with grain, provides a perfect ration for laying hens. In addition to this they get plenty of exercise and fresh air. So far as possible, then, the feeder should try to make these winter conditions springlike.

Two systems are used in feeding fowls—the dry-mash and the moist-mash, although in the dry-mash system a light-moist mash often is fed. By the term "moist" poultrymen mean a mixture of ground feed, either moist or dry. The greatest advantage to be derived from the dry-feed system are the saving of labor and the lessened danger of bowel trouble resulting from sloppy or soured mashes. In the dry-feed system for laying hens, as practiced successfully on a New York poultry farm, the grains fed are as follows, in the proportions indicated.

This mixture is scattered in the litter early in the morning and again at about 11:30 a. m., and this induces abundant exercise. A hopper containing dry mash is hung against the wall. The mash is made of these ingredients in the proportions indicated (by measure):

300 pounds cracked 150 pounds wheat, corn.
50 parts bran. 15 parts ground alfalfa.
30 parts middlings. 2 parts oyster shell.
12 parts corn meal. 1 part grit (small).
4 parts meal (and 1 part charcoal).
The hopper containing this mash is kept before the fowls all of the time.

Corn is the most popular of all the grain feeds for farm poultry, probably because of its abundance and comparative cheapness, and because it is relished over all other grains. It should be balanced with meat, bone, linseed meal, gluten meal, and such feeds as are rich in protein, for corn is deficient in this constituent. When corn is fed to hens that have plenty of exercise, and a chance to get insects and green feed, more satisfactory results are likely to be recorded than when fed to the same fowls closely confined. It may be fed quite liberally to your poultry during the winter in cold climates, but should be fed sparingly in summer.

Wheat usually is considered the safest grain to feed alone, but is too expensive to be fed much to fowls. This grain should be supplemented with other grains and with some meat feed or skim milk to increase the proportion of protein. Wheat contains more protein than corn, about the same amount of carbohydrates, but less fat, and on the whole is considered not so valuable for fattening, but better for growth. Wheat screenings, if they are of a good grade, frequently can be purchased and fed to advantage. Of course, there is always danger of introducing weed seeds through their use. "Burnt wheat" seldom can be fed advantageously; the difference in price between this and good wheat usually being too slight to warrant one in buying it.

Bee's Keen Eye for Landmarks.

How is it that a bee can fly all over a town, and yet invariably come home to the hive in the evening? There can be little doubt so intelligent an insect as this has a long memory and a keen eye for landmarks. This is testified to by the fact that almost all bees fly by day, whereas such creatures as moths, of no fixed home or occupation, fly in the darkness. A bee would be lost at midnight because it could not recognize its surroundings.

Her Probable Intention.

Wright had been sent to the bank with his weekly amount, and when he returned he did not have his book. His mother asked him where it was. After quite a little hesitation he confessed to her in a whisper, "Well, mother, the girl took it and kept it. I think she wanted to weigh it."

The original Haddon hall is two miles southeast of Bakewell, Derbyshire. It belongs to the duke of Rutland and is a notable example of the medieval residence of a great English proprietor.

The Sea Firefly.

It does seem sometimes that for every land animal there is one corresponding to it in the water. Or is it the other way? We all know the firefly, which lights up the summer evenings with its tiny will-o'-the-wisp spark. Well, there is also a sea firefly. It is really a shellfish, which wears near its tail two winglike pieces which help it to make its way along through the water. At the front end of the shell, which is pointed, there is a queer little round bubblelike arrangement, which, at night, gives out a light so strong that its light is not dimmed in the least even when there is a bright lamp shining near it.

treated in this way and, as a matter of course, satin. In fact, this bright and shiny work began with satins and silks.

Cired Fabrics Featured.
Great success is predicted for mousseline cire, which is being used by very many important French houses. A lovely dress in satin cire made by Agnes of Paris shows the bodies of the dress in black satin with little fluted frills of white mousseline cire.

Callot uses a great deal of cire fabrics for all kinds of dresses, both for day and evening wear. In fact, it was her indorsement that has given new life to the waxed materials.

A lovely dress from Doucet shows the use of white crepe georgette and black satin cire, the white georgette forming the overdress and the black cire satin the foundation. The overdress is beautifully embroidered in white crystal beads threaded on a rather coarse black thread which results in a charming effect.

Among the cool summer frocks the black lace dress still is immensely popular, and second only in favor is the black lace wrap. In many instances one matches the other. A very smart French model is a cape developed in black lace, jet spangles and embroidered tulle with lovely bands

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE BYRD BIRD.

"A little girl named Katharine Byrd," said Daddy, "grew up into a grown-up person, as little girls are very apt to do."

"But when she grew up she never forgot she had been young. Some people do that. And oh, what lots and lots of fun they miss."

"For," Daddy continued, "I feel like singing a song like this at times:

"Boys and girls, you're often scolded; Boys and girls, you're often bad; But really, boys and girls, You do a lot to make us glad."

"Hurrah!" shouted Nancy.

"Cheers for Daddy," said Nick.

"Thank you," said Daddy, "but there are people who seem to forget what fun it is to be young, and because they've forgotten all about it they have any kind of games or laughter or what they call 'noise'."

Katharine Byrd grew up into a big lady, but she never forgot what it was to be a child.

"Are you running young, and she would smile when she saw children playing, and if they bumped into her by mistake she would say:

"Dear me, are you running races, or are you thinking I'm the goal?"

"Often she would take children out for walks, and it would have been hard for any one to decide whether the children of Katharine Byrd had the better time."

"They always loved to go anywhere with her. What fun she was! How they loved to talk to her."

"Boys and girls—all loved her! She was always such fun, so ready to enter into anything like a picnic or a walk or a story-telling time."

"And to take hold of Katharine Byrd's hand and walk with her was just the beginning of something mighty nice—everyone knew that."

"She had many, many friends, and how they loved her!"

"She lived alone in a city apartment, but she often used to go out of the apartment, as I've told you, for walks and picnics into the country."

"And often, too, she would walk into the city park and join in with a group of children in feeding peanuts to the ever-hungry squirrels."

"Next to children Katharine Byrd loved birds. Now her name was spelled differently from the way that a bird's name is spelled who flies in the air."

"But there seemed to have been a wonderful understanding between Katharine Byrd and real birds."

"She had a cary for years and years who had grown very, very old, so old that after a time his little birds were over with."

"Katharine Byrd missed her little bird so much. She missed his bright, good morning, and she thought the apartment seemed very quiet without her bird."

"To be sure there was a great deal of noise all about. Wagons, and automobiles, and street cars passed by on the street, children played, and shouted, but in the apartment Katharine Byrd missed her little bird very much."

"One day as Katharine Byrd was sitting in a big rocking chair waiting for some children who were coming to have afternoon tea with her, she heard some one or something singing."

"It sounded very near and she listened very intently."

"She looked about her, and there, perched on top of a picture frame was a little canary."

"'I'm lost; won't you take me in? I found your window open and you looked like a wonderful companion for a little bird. So, I will sing for you! May I not be your little companion?'"

"And from that day to this," said Daddy, "the little canary bird and Katharine Byrd have kept each other company, and the little canary bird sings songs for all of Katharine Byrd's children friends."

"On Top of a Picture Frame."

"The little day trickled down the street with a one that to his music."

DAVY CROCKETT, THE HERO OF THE ALAMO

© Western Newspaper Union.

"Be sure you're right, then go ahead," was Davy Crockett's motto. He fought for the right, then went ahead to a glorious death in the Alamo. Crockett was born in Tennessee in 1780. He came of fighting stock for his father, a tavern keeper, had been a soldier in the Revolution. Young Crockett's early years were spent in roaming the Tennessee woods, hunting. He became a renowned bear hunter, a fame which he shared with his favorite rifle, "Old Betsy."

When the Creek Indians went on the war path in 1813 Crockett joined "Old Betsy" on his shoulder and marched away to fight the Indians. He served as a scout under Gen. Andrew Jackson and was in the great Battle of Topeka when "Old Hickory" defeated Weatherford's warriors.

After the Creek war was over Davy returned to Tennessee and entered politics. From magistrate he rose to state legislator and next the renowned bear hunter and scout was sent to congress where he served two terms. In February, 1836, Davy with 12 of his Tennessee friends arrived at the Mission del Alamo where Col. William Travis with a little army of less than 300 men was fighting the Mexican dictator, Santa Anna.

Santa Anna had a force of 5,000 men, and although the Texans had a chance to escape before this overwhelming army cut off their retreat, they refused to do so. The Mexican general surrounded the rude little adobe fort. His demand for its surrender was met with scorn. Then he raised the red flag which meant, "No quarter," and attacked.

The long rifles of the Texans moved down the Mexican soldiers driven to the attack. On March 6 Santa Anna prepared for a grand assault. Twenty-five hundred picked men were detailed to be hurled against the fort. The first assault was beaten back with heavy loss. A second failed, but in the third desperate attack the Mexicans broke into the fort.

After that the fighting was hand to hand. Travis went down and Crockett took command. Outnumbered a hundred to one, Crockett with a few comrades stood with their backs to the wall of the church. One by one his men went down. At last only Davy was left. "Old Betsy" fired her last shot. Then Crockett seized her by the barrel and swung her about his head.

There was a short struggle. "Old Betsy" was knocked from his hand. Bayonet thrust and sword cut were rained upon him. A mass of Mexicans struck him. He went down fighting to the last. The Alamo was history.

"Well," answered the fair young thing at the dinner table. "I'm not going to get my hair braided after all."

"True," said her father. "But why?"

"You see, it's like this," she explained in reply. "I don't know whether the boys would be sure to like it, as I've never asked a questionnaire. They all answered, and the result was that six of them said not to braid it, while only two were in favor, so I can't do it, really."

Probably Enough.

To Remove a Tight Chin Laid.

On this are often difficult to remove. There is a plan by means of which they can be loosened easily. Tie a piece of stout twine loosely just below the lower lip, then draw under the lower lip and pull it over the chin. When the twine is tight, the corner of the chin will be pulled down.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(By Elmo Scott Watson)

Our day is that of short cuts, labor saving devices and greater efficiency in all forms of labor. In steam and electricity man has come into possession of well-nigh unlimited possibilities.

GOOD DISHES WORTH TRYING.

When ideas seem scarce and one does not know what to serve, try some of these:

Corn, California Style.—Mix a can of corn with chopped green pepper and one-half cupful of thick white sauce, well seasoned with salt. Turn into a buttered casserole and cover with strips of bacon. Bake in the oven until the bacon is cooked.

Cabbage With Veal Balls.—Cut the center from a firm head of cabbage and boil the shell in a cloth to keep it from breaking; drain when tender and season well with salt and pepper. To the cabbage taken from the center, chop and add half as much minced veal, one chopped onion, one cupful of cooked rice and one-half cupful of butter, mix and form into balls, the size of a walnut, dip in egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat until brown. Serve the balls in the cabbage shell both steaming hot.

Stuffed Rabbit.—Mix together a cupful of bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of poultry dressing or any desired herbs, four tablespoonfuls of chopped meat, one teaspoonful of grated lemon rind, one egg and salt and pepper to taste. Add milk if more moisture is needed. Fill the well cleaned rabbit with this mixture and sew up carefully. Simmer for an hour or longer, according to the age of the rabbit. Serve with parsley and butter and serve buttered onions as a vegetable.

Preserved Barberries.—Currants, washed, or any fruit which can be well washed and mixed with an equal quantity of sugar, allowed to stand overnight in a cool place, or long enough to have the sugar thoroughly dissolved and mixed through the fruit may be canned in cold sterile jars and sealed, keeping perfectly if kept in a cold cellar or in the bottom of the ice chest until cold weather comes on. Keep the jars from the light.

Take a pint of whipped cream, add a cupful and a half of cream cheese, a cupful of walnut meats, and the same of dates. Serve in sherbet cups garnished with a cherry.

There is nothing like it to heal the skin."—Mrs. Charles A. Brown, Ashaway, R. I.

After seven years of Government control, Great Britain has returned its railroads to private hands. Two years were enough for Uncle Sam.

Congress may waste wind and the government generally may be rather inactive, but the situation compels life and movement in prohibition enforcement circles.

By being only 30 years old and good looking, Special Policewoman Hart of Philadelphia first attracts street "mashers," then pulls her club and "swats" them—a method which the "mashers" regard as not quite on the level.

The Canadian authorities are reported as saying in response to complaint that their own prohibition laws do not forbid the exportation of liquors, and as humorously suggesting that we might be offended if they undertook to assist so great a country as the United States in enforcing its own statutes.

Unlike Prof. Einstein, Mme. Curie did not see in the uniform cordiality and enthusiasm of her welcome in this country amusing evidence of American ignorance and lack of culture. She was pleased—and said so when she went home—with this land of "limitless possibilities for the future."

It was inevitable and it has come—the "Shorter Bible," which differs from the original in that references to the use of wine, and in particular the miracle at Cana of Galilee, have been deleted. When all the modern reformers have issued expurgated editions of the Scriptures in harmony with their varying views of what is quite proper the surviving Bible is likely to be but little more than a thing of shreds and patches.

"Ivanhoe" is one of the books most often taken out of three of the largest branches of the New York public library and other novels by the same author are "more in demand than ever before." Literary fashions come and go, but even after the lapse of more than a hundred years Sir Walter Scott's tales of chivalrous knights and princely adventures still hold their own, especially among young readers, for whose wholesome entertainment they are admirably suited.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

According to late reports, Eamonn De Valera, "President of the Irish republic," declares that the British government's offer of a dominion status to Ireland will be projected and nothing short of complete independence will be accepted. If that is so, the conference between De Valera and Lloyd-George was a useless waste of words and De Valera knew that it would be from the first, for the published correspondence shows that he was invited to go to London and confer only on condition that the claim of absolute Irish independence be dropped and that Ireland consent to remain within the British empire. Doubtless this accounts for the resentment of the Irish leaders at the publication of the correspondence, including the letter of General Smuts to De Valera urging compromise.

General Smuts's letter showed a remarkable grasp of the conditions in Ireland. He wrote sympathetically, but in very plain and vigorous language he warned De Valera that the success of his cause depended upon the public opinion of the outside world, and that he would alienate the world's sympathy and lose its support if he rashly and obstinately refused at least to make a trial of the large measure of home rule now offered and giving Ireland substantial control of her own affairs. Apparently De Valera has now done what General Smuts so urgently advised him not to do, and if the decision of the Irish leaders is final no doubt they will alienate much sympathy as well as plunge their country once more into virtual war. For even warm friends of Ireland are impressed by the frank admission of Lloyd-George that the question is one of political expediency, that England simply cannot afford the risks of allowing Ireland to cut loose from the empire entirely and therefore will not do so. The world-wide hopes inspired by the recent parleys will be surrendered only with the greatest reluctance.

Burroughs Nature Club Notes

Copyright 1921. By HOUGHTON MIFFLIN CO.

What do you know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions.

1. Will a poplar tree planted close to the house give trouble? I want something tall and green, and not too shady.
2. Where did the boll weevil come from, and how got its name?
3. I need a brief history or outline of the various attempts to get legal protection for wild birds. How can I find reading showing when and how bird laws were passed, without going through original reports, that are hard to get at?

Answers to Burroughs Nature Notes.

1 Do crabs hibernate?
No, not in the sense animals do. Like many fishes, they retreat to deep spots in the water in winter, and remain sluggish, feeding very little. In mild weather the common edible or blue crab, Callinectes sapidus, takes to shallow water with muddy bottom and plenty of eel grass, and can be seen from the Gulf of Mexico to Cape Cod.

2 Can porcupines shoot off their quills?

Not voluntarily. The spines resemble the shaft of feathers, and grow out of the skin. They are loose at root and sharply pointed and barbed at tip. Usually lying against the body, they do not hook into things; but in excitement they rise and stand out. Any creature rushing against the barbs is sure to get hooked, and in jerking back, finds the quills sticking into himself instead of into the porcupine. Quills may occasionally be shaken loose, but this is not the method of defense.

3 Do mosquitoes of both sexes bite?

No, the male is not equipped for piercing flesh or vegetable membrane, and is not a blood sucker. He is thought to feed, if at all, on plant nectar or similar fluid. The female has a piercing stylet for one of her mouthparts, and by preference uses it for obtaining blood. When unable to get it, she can feed on sap of plants.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, Aug. 20.—The Mary Margaret Cottage, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Murphy of Brooklyn, has been newly painted and decorated so that it is now one of the most attractive cottages on James street.

Rosendale is proud of its new state road. The business men of Main street are contemplating a celebration in honor of the event at a future date.

James street bids fair to rival the street Beautiful with its many newly painted cottages and beautiful lawns is the cause of many complimentary remarks from summer visitors.

A. James McIntyre and his sister, Mrs. Henry J. Wolf, of Woodbine street, Brooklyn, are spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Murphy at the Mary Margaret Cottage.

Rosendale has a large number of Brooklyn people these days. St. Peter's Church, with its beautiful church property, and St. Rita's shrines are quite an attraction to Brooklyn Catholics who marvel at its liberal surroundings. Father Higgins is a great favorite with the visitors, who appreciate his affability.

SOME NEW BUILDINGS.

More Building Blocks Being Used Than Last Year.

That there is no building going on in this city is disputed by Anthony H. Lawatsch, the concrete block manufacturer on Summer street.

In response to an inquiry made by a Freeman reporter as to how he found business conditions in the building line, Mr. Lawatsch said his business was much better now than it was last season. Samuel Hall of 411 Washington avenue was having erected out of concrete blocks a two-story building at the rear of his place of business to be used as a cider mill, the building to be so constructed that if later it be deemed advisable it can easily be made into a dwelling. Mr. Lawatsch has also furnished concrete blocks for foundation use on a residence being built for John Hall on Delta Place, for a residence under construction for John Steiner on Bruyn avenue near Albany avenue; for a house for Andrew Wrenn on East Chester street; for three houses on Albany avenue being constructed by Contractor Czerwinski, and for a large five section storehouse being constructed for the Consolidated Oil Co., off of Converse street near the O. & W. railroad yard. He stated that he also had several out of town orders to be filled.

INDUSTRIAL GAMES.

Four Scheduled This Week. Beginning Tonight.

The Industrial League has four baseball games on its schedule for this week. Tonight the Lace Mills team will meet the Peter Schuyler outfit in a game which was to have been played on July 19, but postponed on account of rain. This game promises to be interesting as the Lace Mills men are anxious to make third place in the league standing. By winning tonight's game and Thursday evening's against the Willites, they will be tied for third place with the cigar-makers, provided they (the cigar-makers) lose Tuesday with the silk mills. Following is the complete schedule for the week, all games at Athletic field, 6:45 p. m.:

August 22—Lace Mills vs. Peter Schuylers.

August 23—Silk Mills vs. Peter Schuylers.

August 25—Willite vs. Lace Mills.

August 26—U. &amp; D. vs. Grocers.

FIFTH BINNEWATER.

Fifth Binnewater, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Silas Castor and children, Christina and Delancy, and Mrs. Frank Straub and son, Gilbert, were among the many from here who attended the Cottekill Sunday picnic in Forsyth Park last Thursday. Everybody reported a fine time.

Miss Nellie Conner and niece, Mildred, of Cottekill, were callers in town one day last week.

Miss Dorothy Maines of Kingston spent several days of her vacation with friends here.

A lovely birthday surprise party was given Miss Lugarda Froer at her home by several of her little girl friends on Monday afternoon in honor of her fifth birthday. Those present were Christina Castor, Mary Deitz, Lela Deitz, Fannie Stoll, Emma Stoll, all of this place, and Dorothy Maines of Kingston and Dorothy Ternan of Brooklyn. Many lovely gifts were presented to her. Games were played and refreshments served on the lawn. Several pictures were taken of the little ones. The party lasted until late and upon departure each one wished Lugarda many more birthdays and hoped for another party soon.

Miss Esthr Hardenburg of Poughkeepsie is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. John Cook.

Large crowds gather every Satur## day night to attend the dances at Mr. Deitz's platform, and now that fall and winter are growing nearer, each one is regretting, for they will soon be compelled to go inside to have their dances and these open air ones have been so nice. Only once or twice has the weather been so bad that they were compelled to go inside all summer. All are hoping that Mr. Deitz will hold them again next summer.

The Fourth Binnewater Sunday school held its picnic on Wednesday, August 17, at the platform. Dinner was served at 1 o'clock. There was a large attendance and all reported a fine time. Ice cream was sold, also soft drinks. The evening performance was not carried out because of the rain, which came up early. Several races and games were carried out during the afternoon, the winners all receiving a prize.

Edwin Booth of Poughkeepsie called on relatives here and at Rosendale on Thursday.

Dr. L. G. Rymph of Bloomington passed through here one day this week in his new Franklin automobile.

Mrs. John Allen spent last Thursday in Kingston.

Miss Mabel Cook is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cook.

Weston Zboray, Fred Zalman and Jack Ogus of Kingston spent Thursday last fishing on our lake.

Miss Mary Deitz is spending a few days in Kingston as the guest of her friend, Dorothy Maines.

Miss Ruth Zboray of Kingston spent several days here.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

By ALFRED STEPHEN BRYAN

Forecasting Fall Fashions—A Proper And Picturesque Summer Scarf—Golf Jackets Of Cool Linen—The Tuxedo Waistcoat And Its Accessories—A Footnote For Dancers

New York, August 20

SOME wag declares that the easiest thing to write about is Men's Fashions, because there is nothing to write about. This is more a droll saying, than it is a true one. To be sure, the changes in Men's Fashions are not on a parity with Women's Fashions, which take the next change before the last change has taken effect. There are not, there never will be startling innovations in Men's Fashions, because man, falling into the comfortable dog-trot of habit, dislikes to fall out of it. Nevertheless, each season fetches slight, but well-defined changes, all conducing to a smarter, trimmer appearance. For example, in some of the lounge jackets to be worn in the Autumn the familiar vent in the back is omitted, because it had a tendency to split apart or twitch askew even on the best-cut garments. The ventless back permits smoother drapery and better balance. The fashionable single-breasted Autumn jacket will be an easy-hanging, loose-fitting garment of rather straight lines, only slightly curved at the sides. It will have front buttons spaced far; pockets set far; sleeves cut wide and, sometimes, lapels kept shorter and blunter. The effect sought is one of perfect naturalness, especially in the shoulders, which are normally modeled, and in the skirts, which are free from flare or ripple. Autumn waistcoats are usually not so low and have 6 buttons, the bottom-most one, often, to skip, that is, not meant to be fastened. Trousers are comfortably loose at the knee, narrowing toward the bottom. Extremists in dress, who take their cue from abroad, will wear wider trousers, sometimes showing a perceptible flex or spread over the instep.

Flowing Four-In Hands

Possibly because they do not trust their taste in colors, most men cleave to plain patterns in neckscarves. If one will look for them, however, there are sheaves of beautiful bright colors which, if adroitly harmonized with shirt and suit, are far more engaging than black, navy-blue and the like to wear which proves that you are "Little Mr. Play-Safe". The sketch at the top portrays a flowing-end four-in-hand of English crepe having bold designs in contrasting colors imprinted upon it and set off with a deep border of solid color. This is a prepossessing cravat to wear during these waistcoatless days, when the scarf is the most observed belonging of dress.

Comfort Upon The Links

The suitability of linen for one's golf turnout has never been so generally recognized as this season. Linen is light and cool, yet absorbent, and it launders like a handkerchief. Linen knickers are an oft-told tale which needs no re-telling, but complete linen suits are just as spruce and seemly. A golf jacket of linen is illustrated in the second sketch. It is the 3-button affair with deep pouch pockets, side and breast, having flaps that fasten with buttons. This jacket is longish and has high blunt lapels. It is but slightly curved at the sides. The accompanying collar is soft; the scarf is polka-dotted silk foulard and the hat is the limp Leghorn braid worn with brim flipped down all round.

Tuxedo Suits And Boots

To pair off with the hot-weather Tuxedo jacket, the pointed-end, shawl-lapel white waistcoat of silk, shown above, is one of the preferred fashionable types. Be good enough to observe that the bottommost button is left ajar. The shirt is pleated of bosom and limply laundered. The black tie is pointed of tip and drawn up right-and-tight against the band of the wide-spaced turn-down collar, a distinctly young-mannish whim.

Blucher-cut patent leather Oxfords, as reproduced, are meant wholly for the dance. The light, flexible sole and the square, low heel give the suppleness of the pump, whilst the laced upper has the fixity of the high buttoned boot.

Spats of shepherd's check cloth are now seen with lounge or business suits, a notion from over ocean.

The Poet's Rosary.
The hours I've spent in writing verse
Were long and weary, I'll confess,
I've written bad, I've written worse

That now have gone beyond recall,
And though great stacks of work I've done,
Success is small.

"Operate," gasped Brown. "Why, I haven't any money for an operation. I'm only a poor working man."

"You're insured, are you not?"

"Yes, but I don't get that until I'm dead."

"Oh, that'll be all right," said the doctor, consolingly.

The "Liberty" Age.
Liberty day is usually thought of by Americans as July fourth and Liberty year is recalled from our histories as 1776, but statistics indicate that the liberty year of men and women differs. ## ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story
Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

"I wish you knew how to cook," Molly said to Jim one night. "Carl wants to go to the city for several days, and I need the boys in the field. You'd be a fine cook if you knew how."

"You could learn,—and the experience will be a good one," she added. "Carl's mixing bread in the kitchen. Suppose you have a talk with him."

Jim's news drew the efficient Carl immediately from the bread mixer. "I'll make out the menu for the two days," Carl agreed readily, "and mark the pages where the recipes are. If you can read at all you ought to be able to make edible stuff."

"What will I do with that bread you're mixing?"

"I'll put it in pans in the morning. About ten o'clock you'll have the job of baking it."

The next morning Jim had a feeling that he was going to conquer the world. To feed the world might be synonymous—he felt so at least.

Breakfast was supplied without mishap. The hungry farmers, who had really expected nothing palatable, ate heartily and trooped out to continue their chores.

Carl had planned gingerbread and cream for dinner's dessert. "The boys like it, and gingerbread is easy to make," he added. "Follow this recipe and you can't go wrong."

Jim had peeled potatoes, prepared the corn, roasted the chickens—after appealing to Molly for the meaning of "baste." He knew baste when it referred to slang, but never in relation to roasting chickens.

He puzzled over the task of "separating" two eggs, as called for by a recipe, and at last was ready to make the gingerbread.

Molasses, flour, hot water, soda. He worked in each substance thoughtfully, beat the mixture into a froth, and spread it in the pans.

Tenderly he guarded the oven door, peering in from time to time, hoping to see a rising of brown crust. But the gingerbread remained flat. At the end of the allotted time, Jim dropped the hard nuggets on the table and groaned aloud.

"Gosh! Won't they have the laugh on me! What happened anyway?"

The little girl who washed the dishes drew near and looked solemnly at the display. "Do you want to try again?" she asked.

"What's the use? I followed directions."

"What will you give the boys for dinner?"

"Don't know. I've got to try again, haven't I? The dinner bell will ring in fifteen minutes."

"The cake will cook while they eat. You do as you did before and I'll see what was wrong."

Jim agreed. "Flour, molasses, salt, ginger soda!" He reached for a package and was halted by a scream from Edna.

"Not that! That's washing soda. It's so strong I hate to use it. It takes the skin off my hands. And to put it in the gingerbread!"

Later, fifteen well-fed men pushed back their chairs, content with themselves and the world. "Jim, you're some cook!" they cried.

When His Car Hit a Tree Thursday.

A Ford coupe belonging to Charles Evans of Kingston, a cigar dealer, was badly damaged Thursday morning in an accident which occurred in the state road between Beacon and Fishkill village.

Evans was taken to St. Francis Hospital. He sustained minor cuts and bruises about the head but after being treated at the hospital he was released.—Poughkeepsie Eagle-News

SMUGGLED DRUGS LOST BY GIRL DRESSED AS MAN

Drops Packages in Flight When Suspicious Pier Guard Takes After Her.

Customs inspectors who have been waging warfare against smugglers of cocaine and other drugs caught a fleeting glimpse of one of their adversaries amidst crowds that went to pier 61, Hudson river, New York, to watch the sailing of the liners Lapland and Cedric.

White passengers and their friends were filling the street before the pier. A short, slim figure in overalls, with packages bulging in the pockets, stepped from behind a pile of freight on the pier and briskly made off through the people, taxicabs and drags outside.

A pier guard, who perceived the swift exit from the pier, shouted: "Hey! Where are you going?"

At the first word the brisk walk changed to a rapid dash across the avenue. Customs and pier guards pursued. Two shots fired into the air merely speeded up the fugitive. The packages falling the overalls dropped or were flung to the street. As the fugitive, still far ahead, jumped into a taxicab the cap, pulled low over the forehead, fell off. An avalanche of long hair tumbled down and the pursuers saw their quarry was a girl. That was all they did see, however, for the taxicab dashed away and was soon lost to view.

The packages dropped in the girl's flight, when examined, were found to contain 50 vials of cocaine, valued at about $3,000.

POLICEMEN WEEP IN TEAR GAS SHAM ATTACK

The effectiveness of tear gas, as an implement to be used against rioters, in dispersing mobs, and perhaps on criminals, was proven to the satisfaction of two hundred Philadelphia policemen after the gas had sent them back three times in hasty retreat with wet eyes, in a test held in Philadelphia. This photograph shows one of the bombs which costs just 6 cents.

GIRL FOUND CARD

Wedding Followed a Romance of the War.

When Peter Fardull, a young Ohlan, threw a card, bearing his name and address, out of a car at Dickerson as he was traveling from Washington to his home after his discharge from the army, two years ago, he sealed his matrimonial fate, for it resulted in his marriage to Miss Anna Virginia Mulligan, seventeen years of age, of Dickerson.

Fardull's card bore the suggestion that the finder should communicate with him. This Miss Mulligan, who picked up the card, did. Correspondence ensued, and engagement by mail resulted.

Fardull several days ago visited Dickerson. He and the young woman went to Rockville and were married by Rev. Nolan R. Harmon, Jr., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Moving a Hill Into Rio Bay.

The municipality of Rio de Janeiro is removing one of the old landmarks of the city—Castle hill. A contracting firm is transferring the hill to the bay, where it will form a valuable addition to the area of the city. This new extension is centrally located, and lies at the foot of the famous Avenue Rio Branco. The exposition buildings, to be used in connection with the centenary celebration, which takes place in September, 1922, will be erected on this site. A $200,000 monument, a gift from the American colony in Brazil, and friends in the United States, to the Brazilian government, in honor of its one-hundredth birthday, will be permanently placed in this addition to the city.

WHY

American Actresses Win Popularity in Europe

Those persons who believe nothing but a pretty face is necessary to make you a popular movie star should read what film producers in England and France are up against in their search for young women, who can make good in motion pictures. May Stranathan writes in the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

They claim there are just as many pretty girls in England and France as there are in America—though doubtless this is an exaggeration—but they admit their pretty girls do not screen as well as those of America. They frankly acknowledge the reason is lack of brains. These producers say brains are necessary to success as a movie actress.

Rene Navarre, French actor and would-be film producer who aspires to make his film city at Nice the rival of the one at Los Angeles, after which it is modeled, says he has tried hundreds of beautiful French women and girls, but they have failed miserably before the camera because of lack of the quick intelligence necessary to catch the point of a pose. In despair, he says the only thing to do is to start an academy for the training of camera-stars.

Miss Violet Hopkins, one of the few English girls who have made a success in motion pictures, attributes the success of the American girl to her ambition, thoroughness, her willingness to work hard and her study of types, not only of today, but in literature, including history and poetry.

So the American girl scores again.

CHEERFULNESS AS AN ASSET

Why Mirth Has Been Called "God's Medicine" by Those Capable of Appreciating It.

Mirth has been called God's medicine. There are few persons who can not testify to the saving value of a smile. There is a story told of a man who received a wife while on a business trip that his business had been wiped out by fire. The depression which followed this news threatened for a time his mental balance, and he even gave serious thought to taking his own life.

While in this dangerous mood he received a letter from his daughter, a girl of nine, which read: "Dear Daddy—I went down to see your store that was burned and it looked awfully pretty all covered with ice. Love and kisses from Helen."

The man laughed and the day was saved. That glint of humor was like a ray of sunshine in a dark cell. The spirit of the man was released from the prison of his gloom.

Lincoln on the day that he read to his cabinet the emancipation proclamation opened that important meeting by reading from Artemus Ward. When rebuked by one of his serious-minded cabinet officers for having called them into an important session to hear such nonsense, Lincoln replied: "Why don't you laugh, gentlemen? If I couldn't laugh I would die."

Emerson has said, "Nothing will supply the want of sunshine for peaches, and to make knowledge valuable there must be cheerfulness."—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Why Cattle Are "Mavericks"

Sam Maverick migrated from Massachusetts to Texas in the early days of the great West and entered upon the business of raising cattle. He purchased several herds and put them out to roam the range. Whether from ignorance or from implicit faith in the honesty of the neighbors, it never occurred to Mr. Maverick that it might be wise to put his brand upon his stock.

At round-up time, whenever a cowboy found an unbranded animal, he would cry: "There's a Maverick."

And, generally being of the unregenerate type, he would use his own brand on his find. The name Maverick soon began to be generally applied, and to acquire a distinct metaphorical meaning; and when men had opinions which were vague and undecided, they were declared by Westerners of the old days to hold "Maverick views."

Why Knock on Wood.

Because there was at one time a general belief that trees and humanity were allied in close bonds of union, and that certain trees had healing qualities. It was customary for a person afflicted with disease to take a wooden string of three colors, and with his right hand tie his left loosely to the limb of a tree, then slip it out and hasten homeward without casting a glance back, the belief being that the disease was transferred to the tree by touching it. Thus from a tree it has become common practice to touch any article of wood to ward off misfortune.

DOUMER WANTS TO QUIT CABINET

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Aug. 22.—That a shake up of the French cabinet over the indemnity issue was narrowly averted over the week-end was learned today from a reliable source. M. Doumer, minister of finance, handed his resignation to Premier Briand because the premier refused to accept the indemnity plan of the Allied finance ministers last week. The premier refused to accept the resignation because he wished the ministry to remain intact during the delicate negotiations that are now pending on international matters. M. Doumer decided to take a two weeks' vacation to think over the matter. The finance ministers had agreed to distribution of German indemnity on the basis of priority claims and M. Doumer had accepted on behalf of France. When the agreement was tendered to Premier Briand he repudiated M. Doumer's acceptance and rejected it.

KNAUTH HOME DONORS THANKED

U. S. Hospital Officials in New York Impressed by Reports of Returned Boys as to Efficient Management And How They Have Gained While Here.

The sick soldiers' home has now been conducted about eight weeks at the home of Mrs. Knauth on Albany avenue. Every two weeks from twenty to twenty-five boys are brought from the Reconstruction Hospital or some other soldiers' or sailors' hospitals in New York city and are cared for and kept here for two weeks to recuperate. All of the boys who have been privileged to be here have been unstinted in their praise of the generosity of Mrs. Knauth and the people of Kingston in providing them such a splendid and suitable place. The boys have not only enjoyed it but every one of them have gained considerable in weight and health.

Mayor Canfield, who is chairman of the executive committee, has received the following letter from the Reconstruction Hospital in New York city, dated August 19:

Dear Sir:—I have delayed my formal expression of our appreciation for what your home has meant to our boys until after the executive committee meeting, and it gives me great pleasure to say that at that meeting, held yesterday, I was instructed to convey to your committee the cordial thanks of our hospital board on behalf of the men who benefited so much by their stay at Kingston this summer.

The boys on returning were enthusiastic in their praise of the splendid management of the home, and we consider that the common sense methods used, such as keeping the men busily occupied part of the day assisting in the general duties of the house, etc., were quite in line with our own purpose here in the hospital, where we do our utmost to secure participation in some form of work by every patient, even going so far as to take the work to them when they are unable to leave their beds.

May we express the hope that this excellent work may be repeated and that we shall be privileged to cooperate to the fullest extent.

Again assuring you of our grateful thanks, I am, yours very sincerely, ROBERT STUART, Superintendent and Assistant to the President.

Malden Man Seriously Injured.

Charles Gillott, who moved to Malden recently, where he had purchased a property, was seriously injured Friday. Gillott was engaged in sawing off some limbs from a tree and was standing on a ladder at the time. The sawed limb dropped to the ground and in doing so struck the ladder, throwing it over, and Mr. Gillott fell a distance of 20 feet. He was picked up and Dr. John C. Kamp summoned. An examination revealed that Mr. Gillott's pelvis had been broken and after Dr. Kamp had rendered surgical aid he had Mr. Gillott removed to the Kingston City Hospital.

Soviets Smash Old Enemy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, Aug. 22.—The commander of the soviet forces in Ukraine reports that he has destroyed the anti-soviet troops under General Machno, said a radiogram from Moscow today. General Machno himself escaped with about 100 followers. General Machno conducted a campaign against the Red army during the Polish offensive but after the Russo-Polish peace he retired into the interior of Ukraine where he has been conducting guerilla warfare against the Reds.

Knowledge Brings Love.

Knowledge of a thing engenders love of it; the more exact the knowledge, the more fervent the love.—Leonardo da Vinci.

AT THE THEATERS.

Tommy Dolan at Keeney's Tonight—

"Man Trappers" at Auditorium.

Kingston's tenor, Tommy Dolan, singing "Sometimes," a new song composed by Kingston boys, at Keeney's tonight and tomorrow night only, is an innovation at Keeney's. He will no doubt sing a number of other songs, depending on the reception he receives. The photoplay starring Douglas MacLean is "Chickens," a lively comedy drama. In addition a Buster Keaton comedy, "Convict 13," is programmed. This program for two days should be a banner attraction at Keeney's again tomorrow.

"Man Trappers," a smashing photodrama of the North Woods, and the fearless, death-stalking Royal North West Mounted Police is on the bill at the Auditorium tonight. A Fox news weekly and Keystone comedy are also featured. Tuesday, Ellen Percy in "The Maid of the West."

MASQUE BLOCK PARTY.

Citizens' Band to Play on Pine Grove Avenue.

Tuesday night the masque block party on Pine Grove avenue will open with a concert by the Citizens' Band, which will consist of the following selections: March—Stars and Stripes. . . Sousa Overture—Poet and Peasant. . . Suppe Medley of Scotch Songs—Among the Heather Waltz. . . Peggy O'Neil Selection—Sunny South. . . Lampe Dancing will follow the concert. At about 10:30 o'clock a grand march will be formed for those in costume, during which the judges will select the best costumed lady and gentleman to whom a prize of $5 in gold will be given. Fancy caps, masks and other carnival effects will be on sale, also ice cream, soft drinks and cigars. It will not be necessary to mask to attend. Good order will be maintained throughout the evening.

Ulster Cabinet Gathers.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Belfast, Aug. 22.—Sir James Craig, premier of the Unionist government of Ulster, arrived here today to preside at a meeting of the cabinet tomorrow when the peace situation will be discussed. He denied that he had renewed his negotiations with Eamonn de Valera. A resolution protesting against the partition of Ireland has been drawn up for introduction in the London-derry council later in the week.

East Kingston Church Supper.

The ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church of East Kingston will give a chicken supper Wednesday evening, August 24, at the home of P. L. Saunders on the state road. They will begin serving supper at 6 o'clock. Everybody is welcome to attend.

All-Day Football Match.

An annual event in the town of Ashbourne, Eng., is a "round-the-town" football match, which takes place on Shrove Tuesday. The number of players is unlimited and the goals are located in a stream four miles apart. The game usually starts early in the day and lasts well into the night.

Introducing a new Oldsmobile "8"

MODEL 47

Seldom, we believe, has a new car ever been introduced to the American public with better credentials for acceptance.

Our own confidence in the superiority of this new eight-cylinder design has led to the addition of practically an entire new group of buildings and $2,000,000 in specially designed machinery to insure the precision required for its better performance and the volume essential to its low-cost production.

You will find it a beautiful, well-balanced piece of mechanism that will accomplish everything you can ask of a high-powered, smooth-running eight-cylinder car, no matter what its price.

And the price of the new Oldsmobile Eight is so sensational that you must personally experience its riding and driving qualities to realize in full the new measure of value that it has set for medium-sized, high-powered design.

Fred G. Shaw, F. G. S., the English champion fly-caster, who has taught European royalty the art of tempting the wily trout and salmon to their lures, is now in this country to initiate American sportsmen into the delicate art and, incidentally, to fish. Sir James Barry, Countess Szechenyi, the Duke of Wellington and others attribute their success with rod and line to Mr. Shaw's instructions.

The Apple of Eden.
From time immemorial the apple has been blamed for being the cause of man's downfall in the garden of Eden. We have even gone so far as to call our Adam's apple by that name in memory of the incident. As a matter of fact, the word apple does not appear in that part of Genesis treating with the garden of Eden, the "fruit of the tree" being the words always used. The fallacy arose from the fact that the word apple has in many languages the general meaning of fruit, and that before an English translation of the Bible was permitted the story was incorrectly spread by ignorant churchmen, and thus took root too deeply to be eradicated.

Semaphore Reform.
"I get so tired of seeing 'Stop' and 'Go' on traffic semaphores I'd like some kind of change, just to vary the monotony," said the fussy motorist. "Well," replied the sarcastic citizen, "you are hard to please. 'Stop' and 'Go' are the shortest words that can be used to regulate traffic, but if you'll take the matter up with the city authorities they may be willing to substitute 'Hesitate' and 'Proceed.'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Value of a Disguise.
"Who is that fellow talking to Senator Shortworth?" "He's a professional lobbyist." "He's rather shabbily dressed." "A lobbyist doesn't care to advertise the fact that he's drawing $10,000 or $15,000 a year for doing nothing in particular."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Card of Thanks.
We, the undersigned, wish to thank our relatives, friends and neighbors for their kindness shown through sickness and death of my beloved husband, John, also the employees of Van Slyke & Horton and Palo Alto factories for their floral offerings. Signed, MRS. CATHERINE HOGAN AND FAMILY.—Advertisement.

BEARSKIN A MARK OF HONOR

Five British Regiments Won Right to Wear Headgear, at the Battle of Waterloo.

Recently published portraits of the King of England at the historic British ceremony, "trooping of the colors," at the Horse guards parade in London show him wearing the high, shaggy bearskin headgear which appears to the uninitiated to be a heavy, uncomfortable article of apparel. As a matter of fact it is not as uncomfortable as it looks.

The Poet's History.

The hours I've spent in writing verse
Were long and weary, I'll confess,
I've written bad, I've written worse
To gain success, to gain success.

I count those hours one by one
That now have gone beyond recall,
And though great stacks of work I've done,
Success is small.

O hours when incandescence burns
Tis then I write in fear and doubt—
Unless this brings me some returns
I'll cut it out, sweet art, I'll cut it out!

Some screen stars should be behind
It instead of on it.

Honey and the wasp gall.

On the street cars, the fat men always Seem to get inside seats.

There isn't much credit in being
An optimist when every little thing
Is going smoothly. Smiling, under Difficulties is the true test of a man's mettle.

So Long, Brown.

"Sorry, Brown," said the doctor
After the examination. "You're in a very serious condition. I'm afraid I'll have to operate on you."
"Operate," gasped Brown. "Why,
I haven't any money for an operation.
I'm only a poor working man."
"You're insured, are you not?"
"Yes, but I don't get that until I'm dead."

"Oh, that'll be all right," said the doctor, consolingly.

Remember the fellow whose job
It was to shoe flies away from the

For a moment bliss was his.

She laughed and said, "It is."

The "Liberty" Age.

Liberty day is usually thought of by Americans as July fourth and Liberty year is recalled from our histories as 1776, but statistics indicate that the liberty year of men and women differs.
The average age of men seeking divorce is thirty-four and the average age of women on the same quest is twenty-nine.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story

Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

"I wish you knew how to cook," Molly said to Jim one night. "Carl wants to go to the city for several days, and I need the boys in the field.
You'd be a fine cook if you knew how."

"You could learn,—and the experience will be a good one," she added.
"Carl's mixing bread in the kitchen.
Suppose you have a talk with him."
Jim's nose drew the efficient Carl immediately from the bread mixer.

"I'll make out the menu for the two days," Carl agreed readily, "and mark the pages where the recipes are. If you can read at all you ought to be able to make edible stuff."
"What will I do with that bread you're mixing?"

"I'll put it in pans in the morning.
About ten o'clock you'll have the job of baking it."
The next morning Jim had a feeling that he was going to conquer the world. To feed the world might be synonymous—he felt so at least.

Breakfast was supplied without mishap. The hungry farmers, who had really expected nothing—questable, ate heartily and trooped out to continue their chores.

Carl had planned gingerbread and cream for dinner's dessert. "The boys like it, and gingerbread is easy to make," he added. "Follow this recipe and you can't go wrong."

Jim had peeled potatoes, prepared the corn, roasted the chickens—after appealing to Molly for the meaning of "baste." He knew baste when it referred to slang, but never in relation to roasting chickens.

He puzzled over the task of "separating" two eggs, as called for by a recipe, and at last was ready to make the gingerbread.

Molasses, flour, hot water, soda.
He worked in each substance thoughtfully, beat the mixture into a froth, and spread it in the pans.

Tenderly he guarded the oven door, peering in from time to time, hoping to see a rising of brown crust. But the gingerbread remained flat. At the end of the allotted time, Jim dropped the hard nuggets on the table and groaned aloud.

"Gosh! Won't they have the laugh on me! What happened anyway?"

The little girl who washed the dishes drew near and looked solemnly at the display. "Do you want to try again?" she asked.

"What's the use? I followed directions."

"What will you give the boys for dinner?"

"Don't know. I've got to try again, haven't I? The dinner bell will ring in fifteen minutes."

"The cake will cook while they eat. You do as you did before and I'll see what was wrong."

Jim agreed. "Flour, molasses, soda, ginger, soda!" He reached for a package and was halted by a scream from Edna.

"Not that! That's washing soda.
It's so strong I hate to use it. And to put it in the gingerbread!"

Later, fifteen well-fed men pushed back their chairs, content with themselves and the world. "Jim, you're some cook!" they cried.

EVANS HURT.

When His Car Hit a Tree Thursday.

A Ford coupe belonging to Charles
Evans of Kingston, a cigar dealer, was badly damaged Thursday morning in an accident which occurred in the state road between Beacon and Fishkill village.

Evans was driving along at a moderate rate of speed, when going down a hill his car suddenly got beyond his control and he crashed into a tree alongside the road. The front of his machine was badly damaged and it was towed into this city for repairs.

Evans was taken to St. Francis Hospital. He sustained minor cuts and bruises about the head but after being treated at the hospital he was released.—Poughkeepsie Eagle-News.

ALL LOOK ALIKE TO COLONIALS

Atlantic City Team, Used to Fast Company, Gets Very Small End of Saturday's Game—Culloton Fans 13.

The much heralded Atlantic City team, conquerors of several of the best semi-pro teams in the Metropolitan district, invaded Kingston Saturday afternoon and left here on the short end of a 5 to 1 score. Ability to hit Dehm, the Jersey twirler, when hits meant runs, gave the Colonials the victory.

"Bud" Culloton, ace of the Kingston pitching staff, had the visitors guessing throughout the entire contest. Five hits were all the Atlantic City men were able to make off his delivery, and only once were they able to make more than one hit to an inning. Thirteen of the opposing players went back to the bench after having swung in vain at the third one.

The local team lost no time in scoring. Fitzgerald started the first inning with a drive that First Baseman Smith could not handle. Schirick sacrificed him along to second. Jack Robins drove a single to left, Fitzgerald holding third. Deegan sent Fitzgerald home with the first run when he singled to center.

The New Jersey team tied it up in the fourth. Bennett got the first hit off Culloton when he doubled to center. He scored a minute later when Connors let Leonard's grounder get by him.

The Colonials scored two more in the fifth in an unusual manner. With Fitzgerald on third and Schirick on first and two down, Schirick was trapped between first and second. In the run-up that followed Fitzgerald made a dash for home and beat the throw. Farrell then threw to second to catch Schirick, but the throw was wild and the Kingston captain continued his journey to the plate, reaching there in safety.

In the eighth the Colonials scored two more. Connors got his second hit and went to third on Schwab's single. Schwab made a steal of second. The locals then pulled off a double steal, Connors scoring and Schwab going to third. Moore singled to center and Schwab registered with another tally.

"Heinie" Wagner, former captain of the Boston Red Sox, and now the pilot of the Atlantic City Club, was unable to accompany the team Saturday owing to the illness of his wife. In his absence Center Fielder Lown is acting manager.

COLONIALS 9, ALL-TROYS 5

Crack Kingston Team Finds Easy Going at Saugerties—Fast Double Play Pulls Williams Out of Hole.

The Colonials had an easy time disposing of Jack Willett's Troy All Stars at the Athletic Field, Saugerties, Sunday afternoon. The Kingston sluggers found the offerings of Hickey to their liking getting eleven hits for a total of sixteen bases. The final figures for the affair were Colonials 9, Troy 5.

A streak of wildness on the part of "Dick" Williams, who suddenly found himself unable to locate the plate, gave the Trojans three runs in the eighth. "Dick" passed five of the first six men to face him in this inning, but a fast double play engineered by Deegan and Culloton pulled him out of a hole. After that Williams settled down and the up-staters could do no more scoring.

"Bill" McAuliffe started in the box for the Colonials but a sore arm caused him to leave the game in the fifth inning. "Mac" left the game with the score 6 to 2, so Williams was not forced to extend himself to the limit.

Jack Robins who has hit safely in every game the Colonials have played except the Oneonta game, failed to get a hit yesterday. Jack hit the ball hard every trip up, but was unable to "hit 'em where they ain't."

The Colonials found Hickey for four runs in the second frame and two more in the third. Leo Fitzgerald added another in the sixth when his long drive to center rolled under an automobile. Leo circling the bases before the ball could be returned. Connors and Schwab added two more in the eighth.

Use Right Screw-Driver.

Probably the screw-driver and the hammer are the most used tools about the house, but it will surprise many people to know that there are three different kinds of drivers to fit three different sizes of screws. If the correct driver is being used it will just fit the slot of the screw and no pressure will be required to drive the screw. Further, the danger of the driver's slipping is reduced to a minimum, thereby preventing accident.

The dinner was served at 1 o'clock and immediately after the dinner the convention was called to order. L. C. Tuckerman of Milton, who has been county chairman since the organization was formed in 1919, was present and gave a very interesting talk and introduced A. S. Callan, editor of the Chatham Courier, of Chatham, and district commander of the legion. Mr. Callan gave an outline of the work which has been accomplished during the year by the legion and spoke of the various legislative matters which have been carried to success through the legion.

His "Graven Image."

It is quite true that some people adhere so strictly to their own reading or biblical laws that they refuse to have their photographs taken. These very particular people insist that Exodus 20:4—"Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything"—forbids the taking of photographs or the painting of portraits.

SMUGGLED DRUGS LOST BY GIRL DRESSED AS MAN

Drops Packages in Flight When Suspicious Pier Guard Takes After Her.

Customs inspectors who have been waging warfare against smugglers of cocaine and other drugs caught a fleeting glimpse of one of their adversaries amidst crowds that went to pier 61, Hudson river, New York, to watch the sailing of the liners Lapland and Cedre.

While passengers and their friends were filling the street before the pier, a short, slim figure in overalls, with packages bulging in the pockets, stepped from behind a pile of freight on the pier and briskly made off through the people, taxicabs and drags outside.

A pier guard, who perceived the swift exit from the pier, shouted: "Hey! Where are you going?"

At the first word the brisk walk changed to a rapid dash across the avenue. Customs and pier guards pursued. Two shots fired into the air merely speeded up the fugitive. The packages falling the overalls dropped or were flung to the street. As the fugitive, still far ahead, jumped into a taxicab the cap, pulled low over the forehead, fell off. An avalanche of long hair tumbled down and the pursuers saw their quarry was a girl. That was all they did see, however, for the taxicab dashed away and was soon lost to view.

The packages dropped in the girls' flight, when examined, were found to contain 50 vials of cocaine, valued at about $3,000.

POLICEMEN WEEP IN TEAR GAS SHAM ATTACK

The effectiveness of tear gas, as an implement to be used against rioters, in dispersing mobs, and perhaps on criminals, was proven to the satisfaction of two hundred Philadelphia policemen, after the gas had sent them back three times in hasty retreat with wet eyes, in a test held in Philadelphia. This photograph shows one of the bombs which costs just 6 cents.

GIRL FOUND CARD

Wedding Followed a Romance of the War.

When Peter Fardull, a young Ohioan, threw a card, bearing his name and address, out of a car at Dickerson as he was traveling from Washington to his home after his discharge from the army, two years ago, he sealed his matrimonial fate, for it resulted in his marriage to Miss Anna Virginia Mulligan, seventeen years of age, of Dickerson.

Fardull's card bore the suggestion that the finder should communicate with him. This Miss Mulligan, who picked up the card, did. Correspondence ensued, and engagement by mail resulted.

Fardull several days ago visited Dickerson. He and the young woman went to Rockville and were married by Rev. Nolan R. Hartman, Jr., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Moving a Mill Into Rio Bay.

The municipality of Rio de Janeiro is removing one of the old landmarks of the city—Cristo Hill. A contracting firm is transferring the hill to the bay, where it will form a valuable addition to the area of the city. This new extension is centrally located, and lies at the foot of the famous Avenida Rio Branco. The expensive buildings to be used in connection with the centenary celebration, which takes place in September, 1922, will be erected on this site. A significant movement, a gift from the American colony in Brazil, and friends in the United States, to the Brazilian government, in honor of the centenary, death anniversary, will be permanently placed in this addition to the city.

WHY

American Actresses Win Popularity in Europe

Those persons who believe nothing but a pretty face is necessary to make you a popular movie star should read what film producers in England and France are up against in their search for young women who can make good in motion pictures. May Stranathan writes in the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

They claim there are just as many pretty girls in England and France as there are in America—though doubtless this is an exaggeration—but they admit their pretty girls do not screen as well as those of America. They frankly acknowledge the reason is lack of brains. These producers say brains are necessary to success as a movie actress.

Rene Navarre, French actor and would-be film producer who aspires to make his film city at Nice the rival of the one at Los Angeles, after which it is modeled, says he has tried hundreds of beautiful French women and girls, but they have failed miserably before the camera because of lack of the quick intelligence necessary to catch the point of a pose. In despair, he says the only thing to do is to start an academy for the training of camera stars.

Miss Violet Hopkins, one of the few English girls who have made a success in motion pictures, attributes the success of the American girl to her ambition, thoroughness, her willingness to work hard, and her study of types, not only of today, but in literature, including history and poetry.

So the American girl scores again.

CHEERFULNESS AS AN ASSET

Why Mirth Has Been Called "God's Medicine" by Those Capable of Appreciating It.

Mirth has been called God's medicine. There are few persons who cannot testify to the saving value of a smile. There is a story told of a man who received a wife while on a business trip that his business had been wiped out by fire. The depression which followed this news threatened for a time his mental balance, and he even gave serious thought to taking his own life.

While in this dangerous mood he received a letter from his daughter, a girl of nine, which read: "Dear Daddy—I went down to see your store that was burned and it looked awfully pretty all covered with ice. Love and kisses from Helen."

The man laughed and the day was saved. That glint of humor was like a ray of sunshine in a dark cell. The spirit of the man was released from the prison of his gloom.

Lincoln on the day that he read to his cabinet the emancipation proclamation opened that important meeting by reading from Artemus Ward. When rebuked by one of his serious-minded cabinet officers for having called them into an important session to hear such nonsense, Lincoln replied: "Why don't you laugh, gentlemen? If I couldn't laugh I would die."

Emerson has said: "Nothing will supply the want of sunshine for peaches, and to make knowledge valuable there must be cheerfulness."—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Why Cattle Are "Mavericks"

Sam Maverick migrated from Massachusetts to Texas in the early days of the great West and entered upon the business of raising cattle. He purchased several herds and put them out to roam the range. Whether from ignorance or from implicit faith in the honesty of the neighbors, it never occurred to Mr. Maverick that it might be wise to put his brand upon his stock.

At round-up time, whenever a cowboy found an unbranded animal, he would cry: "There's a Maverick." And, generally being of the unregenerate type, he would use his own brand on his find. The name Maverick soon began to be generally applied and to acquire a distinct metaphorical meaning; and when men had opinions which were vague and undecided, they were declared by Westerners of the old days to hold "Maverick views."

Why Knock on Wood.

Because there was at one time a general belief that trees and humanity were allied in close bonds of sympathy, and that certain trees had healing qualities. It was customary for a person afflicted with disease to take a solemn vow of three colors, and with this stick he laid his hand upon the trunk of a tree, then left it and and heaved himself without casting a glance back, the belief being that the disease was transferred to the tree by touching it. Thus from a tree it has become common practice to touch any article of wood to ward off sickness.

Why Friends Are Good Food. More than 2,000,000 letters in this country were placed with friends last year. The demand for them is increasing by leaps and bounds. They are

Again Reduces Price

Extra Size 30x3½ $16.65

Now $13.95

Firestone first made the low price of $13.95 on the Standard Non-Skid, May 2. Unusual purchasing power through big volume of business, and the great efficiency of its $7,000,000 Plant No. 2, manufacturing exclusively 30x3½ size, made this possible. Now, the production of the Extra-Size 30x3½ tire has been transferred to Plant No. 2. This permits the price reduction on this tire from $16.65 to $13.95. No such value has ever before been offered tire users. If your dealer hasn't the Extra-Size in stock ask for our Standard Non-Skid type at the same price. You will still be getting an unusual tire value.

KNAUTH HOME DONORS THANKED

U. S. Hospital Officials in New York Impressed by Reports of Returned Boys as to Efficient Management And How They Have Gained While Here.

The sick soldiers' home has now been conducted about eight weeks at the home of Mrs. Knauth on Albany avenue. Every two weeks from twenty to twenty-five boys are brought from the Reconstruction Hospital or some other soldiers' or sailors' hospitals in New York city and are cared for and kept here for two weeks to recuperate. All of the boys who have been privileged to be here have been unstinted in their praise of the generosity of Mrs. Knauth and the people of Kingston in providing them such a splendid and suitable place. The boys have not only enjoyed it but every one of them have gained considerable in weight and health.

Mayor Canfield, who is chairman of the executive committee, has received the following letter from the Reconstruction Hospital in New York city, dated August 13:

Dear Sir:—I have desired my formal expression of our appreciation for what your home has meant to our boys until after the executive committee meeting, and it gives me great pleasure to say that at that meeting, held yesterday, I was instructed to convey to your committee the cordial thanks of our hospital board on behalf of the men who benefited so much by their stay at Kingston this summer.

The boys on returning were enthusiastic in their praise of the splendid management of the home, and we consider that the common sense methods used, such as keeping the men busy occupied part of the day assisting in the general duties of the home, etc., were quite in line with our own purpose here in the hospital, where we do our utmost to secure participation in some form of work by every patient, even going so far as to take the work to them when they are unable to leave their beds.

May we express the hope that this excellent work may be repeated and that we shall be privileged to cooperate to the fullest extent. Again assuring you of our grateful thanks. I am, yours very sincerely, ROBERT STUART, Superintendent and Assistant to the President.

Malden Man Seriously Injured.

Charles Gillott, who moved to Malden recently, where he had purchased a property, was seriously injured Friday. Gillott was engaged in sawing off some limbs from a tree and was standing on a ladder at the time. The sawed limb dropped to the ground and in doing so struck the ladder, throwing it over, and Mr. Gillott fell a distance of 20 feet. He was picked up and Dr. John C. Kamp summoned. An examination revealed that Mr. Gillott's pelvis had been broken and after Dr. Kamp had rendered surgical aid he had Mr. Gillott removed to the Kingston City Hospital.

AT THE THEATERS.

Tommy Dolan at Keene's Tonight—"Man Trackers" at Auditorium.

Kingston's tenor, Tommy Dolan, singing "Sometimes"—a new song composed by Kingston boys, at Keene's tonight and tomorrow night only, is an innovation at Keene's. He will no doubt sing a number of other songs, depending on the reception he receives. The photoplay starring Douglas MacLean is "Chickens," a lively comedy drama. In addition a Buster Keaton comedy, "Convict 13," is programmed. This program for two days should be a banner attraction at Keene's again tomorrow.

"Man Trackers," a smashing photodrama of the North Woods, and the fearless, death-stalking Royal North West Mounted Police is on the bill at the Auditorium tonight. A Fox news weekly and Keystone comedy are also featured. Tuesday, Eileen Percy in "The Maid of the West."

At Day Football Match.

An annual event in the town of Southampton, Eng., is a "tough-tough" football match, which takes place on "Barnes Trench." The nature of play is so wild and the goals are so low that the game is often called a "tough-tough" match. The game usually starts early in the day and lasts well into the night.

DOUMER WANTS TO QUIT CABINET

By Telegram to The Freeman. Paris, Aug. 22.—That a shake up of the French cabinet over the indemnity issue was narrowly averted over the week-end was learned today from a reliable source. M. Doumer, minister of finance, handed his resignation to Premier Briand because the premier refused to accept the indemnity plan of the Allied finance ministers last week. The premier refused to accept the resignation because he wished the ministry to remain intact during the delicate negotiations that are now pending on international matters. M. Doumer decided to take a two weeks' vacation to think over the matter. The finance ministers had agreed to distribution of German indemnity on the basis of priority claims and M. Doumer had accepted on behalf of France. When the agreement was tendered to Premier Briand he repudiated M. Doumer's acceptance and rejected it.

A great many people from this place and Kingston went on the excursion to Newburgh, Saturday on the steamer Odell. The day was beautiful and they had a delightful sail. This excursion was under the auspices of Division No. 1, of the Ladies Aid Society, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

A very bad golfer had been plowing up the turf all the way round. Finally he tore up about a square foot of turf on one of the greens. "Dear me, what shall I do?" he said to the caddy, who replied: "I think, sir, the best thing you can do is to take that clump of turf home with you and make a wee course for yourself."

Seldom, we believe, has a new car ever been introduced to the American public with better credentials for acceptance.

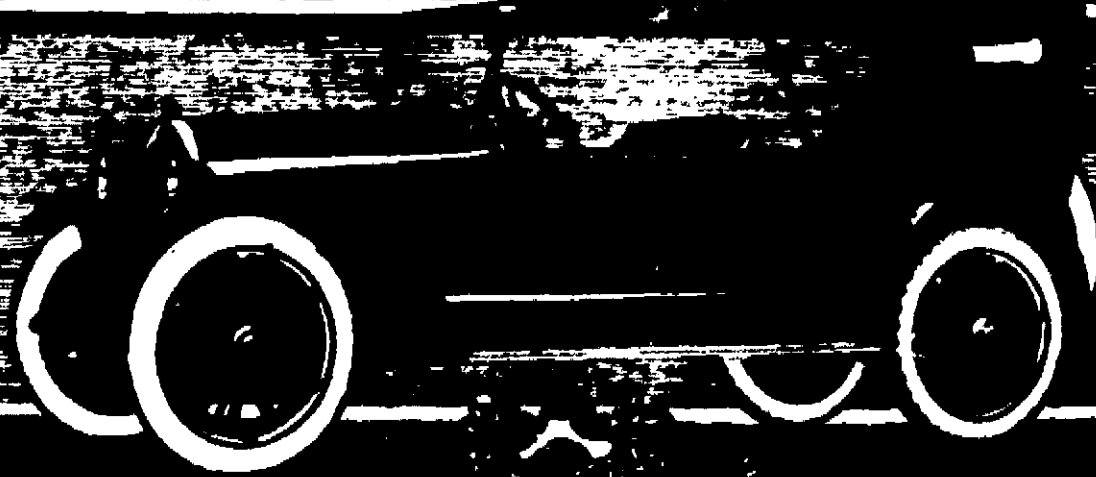

Our own confidence in the superiority of this new eight-cylinder design has led to the addition of practically an entire new group of buildings and $2,000,000 in specially designed machinery to insure the precision required for its better performance and the volume essential to its low-cost production.

You will find it a beautiful, well-balanced piece of mechanism that will accomplish everything you can ask of a high-powered, smooth-running eight-cylinder car, no matter what its price.

And the price of the new Oldsmobile Eight is so sensational that you must personally experience its riding and driving qualities to realize in full the new measure of value that it has set for medium-sized, high-powered design.

NEGRO BURNS SELF IN JAIL

Tombs Prisoner Dying From Burns Received When He Attempted to Cheat the Law and Life, and Sing Sing, Devoted and partly carried out one of the most gruesome scenes to end it all. In his cell at the Tombs, he first drenched his clothing and body from top to toe with kerosene, then wound a noose out of a handkerchief and after trying it so tightly around his neck that it stopped his breath, applied a match to his oil saturated pants. Within a second he was a human torch, the flames scorching the cell ceiling and the fumes spread throughout the jail. He was horribly burned before attendants could extinguish the blaze and he probably will die.

The negro was to have been taken to Sing Sing prison today to begin a five years' sentence for an attack on a policeman.

When Deputy Warden McManus, aided by keepers had put out the flames, Crockett was a sight that made even the hardened Tombs guards shudder. Except for shreds of coat and pants that had been pasted to the body by the liquid fire, there wasn't a bit of clothing left on the desperate man. Every bit of hair had been burned. Every face seems to have been swathed in kerosene, for the sight of one eye was literally burned out and where the eye brows had been there were holes from which hung greenish-crimson shreds of skin.

ALL LOOK ALIKE TO COLONIALS

Atlantic City Team, Used to Fast Company, Gets Very Small End of Yesterday's Game—Culloton Pans 13.

The much heralded Atlantic City team, conquerors of several of the best semi-pro teams in the Metropolitan district, invaded Kingston Saturday afternoon and left here on the short end of a 5 to 1 score. Ability to hit Dehm, the Jersey twirler, when hits meant runs, gave the Colonials the victory.

"Bud" Culloton, ace of the Kingston pitching staff, had the visitors guessing throughout the entire contest. Five hits were all the Atlantic City men were able to make off his delivery, and only once were they able to make more than one hit to an inning. Thirteen of the opposing players went back to the bench after having swung in vain at the third one.

The local team lost no time in scoring. Fitzgerald started the first inning with a drive that First Baseman Smith could not handle. Schrick sacrificed him along to second. Jack Robins drove a single to left, Fitzgerald holding third. Deegan sent Fitzgerald home with the first run when he singled to center.

The New Jersey team tied it up in the fourth. Bennett got the first hit off Culloton when he doubled to center. He scored a minute later when Connors let Leonard's grounder get by him.

The Colonials scored two more in the fifth in an unusual manner. With Fitzgerald on third and Schrick on first and two down, Schrick was trapped between first and second. In the run-up that followed Fitzgerald made a dash for home and beat the throw. Farrell then threw to second to catch Schrick, but the throw was wild and the Kingston captain continued his journey to the plate, reaching there in safety.

In the eighth the Colonials scored two more. Connors got his second hit and went to third on Schwab's single. Schwab made a steal of second. The locals then pulled off a double steal, Connors scoring and Schwab going to third. Moore singled to center and Schwab registered with another tally.

"Heinie" Wagner, former captain of the Boston Red Sox, and now the pilot of the Atlantic City Club, was unable to accompany the team Saturday owing to the illness of his wife. In his absence Center Fielder Lowie is acting manager.

Crack Kingston Team Finds Easy Going at Saugerties—Fast Double Play Puts Williams Out of Hole.

The Colonials had an easy time disposing of Jack Willett's Troy All Stars at the Athletic Field, Saugerties, Sunday afternoon. The Kingston sluggers found the offerings of Hickey for their liking getting eleven hits for a total of sixteen bases. The final figures for the affair were Colonials 9, Troy 5.

A streak of wildness on the part of "Dick" Williams, who suddenly found himself unable to locate the plate, gave the Trojans three runs in the eighth. "Dick" passed five of the first six men to face him in this inning, but a fast double play engineered by Deegan and Culloton pulled him out of a hole. After that Williams settled down and the up-staters could do no more scoring.

"Bill" McAuliffe started in the box for the Colonials but a sore arm caused him to leave the game in the fifth inning. "Mac" left the game with the score 6 to 2, so Williams was not forced to extend himself to the limit.

Jack Robins who has hit safely in every game the Colonials have played except the Oneonta game, failed to get a hit yesterday. Jack hit the ball hard every trip up, but was unable to "hit 'em where they ain't."

The Colonials found Hickey for four runs in the second frame and two more in the third. Leo Fitzgerald added another in the sixth when his long drive to center rolled under an automobile. Leo circling the bases before the ball could be returned. Connors and Schwab added two more in the eighth.

BONACHERS BEAT BUNNS.

And Colonials Lose Sunday Field at Saugerties.

Sunday afternoon at Riverdale Park three thousand fans witnessed the Deane-Bonacher contest in which the latter triumphed by the score of 5 to 1. Timely hitting by the Bonacher side spelled defeat for the fast Albany team. The bill were 11 to 7 in favor of the Deane.

The Atlantic City side defeated the Green Island Yankees 3 to 2 Sunday. The Colonials' victory in their Sunday grounds will prevent a Green Island to meet the Rapids on Sunday, August 23.

African Set.

A report made to the French Society of Biology shows that chimpanzees belong in the Congo region community of monkeys and not in the class of apes.

They obtain this result from the study of certain plants. Since the opening up of the Congo region the chimpanzees have been largely ignored but the report shows that they are not apes but monkeys. They take the highest seat only because it is cheap.

Use Night Service-Drivers.

Probably the worst driver and the most dangerous to the public is the night driver. It will surprise many people to know that there are three different kinds of drivers in the city.

First, the driver in the city who is not required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Second, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Third, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Fourth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Fifth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Sixth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Seventh, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Eighth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Ninth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Tenth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Eleventh, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Twelfth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Thirteenth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.

Fourteenth, the driver who is required to drive the car at the end of the street and on the way back to the garage.
